the bench and took a sear as one of the additional law judges of Lackawanna county. The members of the bar who were in court arose as a mark of respect to the new judge as he went on the bench.

The commission issued to Judge Elwards by Governor Pattison was handed to Deputy Prothonotary Kasson by Judge Archbald. The document was read by Mr Kasson and Judges Archbald and Edwards then disposed of a few motions.

Judge Edwards assumed the duties of his new office with as much ease and self-possession as if he had been on the bench trying cases and disposing of ton was in many respects the most sucmotions for years. It was generally supposed that the new judge would not take his seat on the bench until high noon and many attorneys visited the greet the new judge when he came on the bench. FUNERAL OF EDWARD C. LYNDE.

The funeral of Edward C. Lyndo took place from his late residence No. 317 Clay avenue, yesterday after-noon. The attendance was very large and the several delegations of employes of the Lackawanns Iron and Sivel company, members of Peter Williamson Lodge No 323 Free and Accepted Mason, and Coeur de Lion Commandery No. 17 Knights Tem plar, of which the deceased was a member, testified to the respect and esteem in which his mamory was held. The floral decorations were profuse and beautiful, prominent among which was an exquisite pillow presented by Peter Williamson Lodge, and a design presented by Coeur de Lion Commandery No. 17, consisting of a scroll, surmounted by a crown and cross, an emblem of the order of Knights Templar. The funeral exercises were com-menced at 2 o'clock, and were conducted by Rev. Dr. Charles S. Robinson, of the Second Presbyterian church, of which Mr. Lynde was a member, assisted by his former parter, Rev. Dr. S. C. Logan, and were very impressive and sulogistic of the long and faithful service of Mr. Lynde as an officer of Lackawanna Iron and Steel company. The pall bearers were W. W. Scranton, O. S. Johnson, Reese G. Brooks, Theo-dore G. Wolf, A. H. Christy and B. A.

The arrangements of the funeral were in charge of Edward P. Kingabury, assisted by Arja Williams, Edward L. Buck, G. Frank Reynolds and John L. Holliday,

The rooms had been tastefully deco-rated for the reception. Scattered about at various places were large palms and plants and flowers in vases In the reading room during the after-noon and evening Bauer's orchestra was stationed and rendered a programme of choice selections that was greatly appreciated. Tallie Morgan had full charge of the musical portion of the reception, and he prepared a programme of more than usual excellence. Among the vocalists who sung were: Mrs. B. T. James Miss.
